YANKS OCCUPY 27TH ISLAND IN PHILIPPINES

GUIMARAS SEIZED AFTER SHORT HOP FROM PANAY

BY CLYDE BARTEL
Associated Press War Editor

American doughboys of the 40th division seized Guimaras Island in the Philippines Wednesday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today (Friday), while Yank bombers heavily blasted Japanese installations on Cebu, one of the few remaining major Philippine Islands in Japanese hands.

The 40th division units hopped across the narrow strait from Iloilo, principal city on newly-won Panay Island, without opposition, to capture Guimaras. It was the 27th Philippine Island to be invaded by MacArthur's troops.

Bombers Batter Cebu

For three straight days American bombers hit Cebu Island, to the east of Guimaras, with 214 tons of explosives, concentrating on Japanese bivouacs and supply dumps around Cebu city. Navy rocket planes sank an enemy mid-gut submarine off Cebu city.

On Luzon Island the 33rd division pressed closer to Baguio, Benguet mountain stronghold where the last main Japanese position on the island is reported centered. The 33rd reached the Naguilan River and airfield on the outskirts of Baguio.

Air bombers patrolling the China Sea blockade routes sank or damaged 12 Japanese small freighters and four landing craft.

Radio silence continued to shield movements of the U. S. 5th Fleet with its powerful carrier task force, which hit Japanese warships and shore targets in the Philippine island sea Monday.

Millions Leave Tokyo

Japanese radio broadcasts indicated the American war fleet might be headed for the Ryukyu Islands or Formosa and possibly future attacks on these southern Japanese strongholds. The radio said the U. S. force was "fleeing" southward, with Japanese planes in pursuit.

Tokyo broadcasts of statements by Japanese government leaders told of disturbed conditions in the homeland. Shigeo Odachi, home minister, said there probably were less than 4,000,000 persons remaining in bomb-battered Tokyo, indicating that around 3,000,000 have evacuated the city.

Gen. Kaneshiro Shibayama, vice minister of war, told a diet committee the government was speeding the organization of a civilian army, or "special attack corps," for defense duty in the event of an American invasion of Japan.

Much Food Stored
Premier Kuniaki Koiso explained to diet members that the Japanese were preparing for possibility of their homeland being split apart by invaders, by setting up an "area-by-area defense structure."

Toshio Shimada, minister of agriculture and commerce, said rice, wheat and sweet potatoes had been distributed and stored in great quantities, and that there was nothing to worry about "at present" should invaders cleave the homeland.

Superior attacks in sizable force from U. S. bases in India bombed Japanese-held Mingaladon airfield and nearby supply dumps in the vicinity of Rangoon, south Burma port.

The 20th U. S. bomber command said the B-29's, making their fourth large raid on the Rangoon area achieved good to

Churchill Accused Of Packing British Frisco Delegation

BY JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.
London, March 22 (AP)—A bitter political row flared up in Commons today when Laborites accused Prime Minister Churchill of packing Britain's seven-man, two-woman delegation to the world security conference at San Francisco in order to maintain his Conservative party's supremacy after the war.

Temper snapped in the usually staid house as Churchill announced that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden would lead these delegates to the conference beginning April 25.

Clement Attlee, deputy prime minister and lord president of the council; Lord Cranborne, Dominions secretary; Lord Halifax, British ambassador to Washington; and five parliamentary secretaries, George Tomlinson of the Labor ministry; William Mabane, food, Dingle Foot, economic warfare; Miss Ellen Wilkinson, home security; and Miss Florence Horsburgh, health.

When the prime minister announced Eden, a Conservative, would lead the delegation, the Labor members immediately attacked. Aneurin Bevan, a consistent critic of Churchill, asked why Attlee, a Laborite, had not been given the chief role.

Churchill explained that Attlee had no constitutional authority while Eden, holding the seals of state, was responsible for the conduct of foreign affairs.

"That is not the answer at all," Bevan shot back.

Then Emanuel Shinwell struck. "Is it not all quite consistent with his (Churchill's) declaration at a Conservative conference," Shinwell asked, "that the Conservative party, having got all they wanted in the way of assistance and guidance in the war, are now going to get everything which is useful in their own hands?"

The delegation was composed of four Conservatives, three Laborites and two Liberals.

Shinwell's statement was met with cheers and countering jeers.

BLACK MARKETS GETTING MEATS

Government Policies Breed Meat-eaters, Retailers Claim

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Congressional groups heard complaints from the range country and packing houses today that there is plenty of meat on the hoof but that government policies keep it off legitimate buyers' tables.

A retailer said "meateaters" are getting more and more of the steaks and roasts to sell on the sly.

The congressmen also got this rejoinder from the Office of Price Administration: Prices and subsidies have been adjusted to costs and the trade generally is coming out pretty well.

Said Rep. Barrett (D-Wyo.) at a meat inquiry called by Rep. Sundstrom (R-NJ): "We've got 10,000,000 excess cattle now out in the west and there's no reason at all why there should be a meat shortage. OPA is to blame."

The retailer witness was Joseph Vain of Norristown, N. J., president of the New Jersey Retail Butchers Association, called by Sundstrom's group.

Reporting an increasing volume of meat sales on the sly throughout the East, Vain said:

"Right here in New Jersey you see more and more butchers putting up venetian blinds and setting up speakeasies—that is, meat-eaters."

Artillery Steps Up Fire Near Bologna

Rome, March 22 (AP)—American artillery men have heavily increased their fire on German targets around Bologna, hub of enemy defenses south of the Po valley, but otherwise only routine patrol actions were reported from the Italian front today and there was no change in positions.

The Germans made a small-scale attack against one Fifth army outpost south of Bologna, but were driven back with casualties. They also assaulted several Allied positions on the British Eighth army front near the Adriatic, with similar results.

SOLDIERS' HOME RENAMED

Lansing, March 22 (AP)—The house today adopted and returned to the senate for action on amendments a bill changing the name of the Michigan Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids to Michigan Veterans Facility.

Draft Calls To Be Cut Sharply After July 1

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Draft calls may drop an average of 51 per cent after July 1, the White House disclosed today, coincident with a House military committee vote to extend the draft law with change.

President Roosevelt, sending up a request to Congress for $54,500,000 to finance selective service another fiscal year, said this contemplated an average draft call of 93,000 a month.

This compares with a figure of 135,000 (which Maj. Gen. Stephen Henry told the House committee is the expected average from now until June).

The White House spoke of the after-July need as being merely one of replacements. It said that by "mobilization of the largest armed force by far in the nation's history" will be complete.

After hearing only two witnesses—Army generals who emphasized the necessity of furnishing fighting replacements until the last enemy has quit—the committee sent the bill to the House floor for a vote probably early next week.

Without the legislation, the selective service act under which millions of men have been inducted would become inoperative on May 15. The bill approved extends it for another year, or until the end of hostilities, whichever is first.

RANKS OF GOP SOLONS BROKEN

Move To Split Detroit Democratic Power Loses In House

Lansing, March 22 (AP)—The house Democratic minority held firm ranks today and blocked the Republican majority's move to place on election ballots a proposed constitutional amendment to divide the city of Detroit into representative districts.

The Republicans failed to hold their own ranks, and the joint resolution proposing the amendment received only 65 of 67 votes needed for the two-thirds majority. Thirty "No" votes were cast.

Rep. George Mathieson, Royal Oak Republican, voted with the Democrats, the only Republican would not have been enough to pass the resolution, mutterings were heard promptly that he would be subjected to reprisal from his G. O. P. colleagues.

The majority party leaders want the city districted because they contend a number of Republicans could be elected from Detroit if that city chose its house members by representative district vote instead of by vote of the city at large as at present. Democrat incumbents fought it on grounds it would mean certain defeat of most of the 21 members Detroit elects. All of the 21 are Democrats.

The committee heeded, though reluctantly, the Army's request that no restriction be placed on the present policy of putting inductees into combat five months after donning the uniform, if necessary.

Many members had talked of keeping teen-age draftees out of combat until they had been trained a year in this country. They still may seek to write such a provision into the bill on the House floor.

Such a restriction, said Major General Idwal Edwards, assistant chief of staff in charge of training, "very definitely would be harmful" to the orderly system of furnishing fighting men.

CURFEW DEFIED IN MT. CLEMENS

Soldiers To Be Removed From Taverns By Military Police

Detroit, March 22 (AP)—Military police patrol to remove military personnel from taverns open after midnight in Mt. Clemens, Dearborn, and other suburban communities was announced tonight by the Selfridge Field army air base provost marshal as the War Manpower commission scheduled informal public hearings Friday for curfew-defying tavern owners.

Most of the Dearborn taverns closed at midnight (Eastern War time) last night after a brief period of 1 a. m. closing.

Mt. Clemens mayor, Donald R. Westendorf gave WMC a list of taverns in that city, and O. K. Fietland, deputy WMC director, said he would take action against those which continue to disregard the curfew.

Both Mt. Clemens and Dearborn are on Eastern War time. The WMC curfew called for midnight closing, and the bar owners decided to let it midnight, Central War time. Mt. Clemens will hold an election April 2 to determine whether it will follow the state law which provides for Central War time.

Cleveland Harbor Shipping Opened

Cleveland, March 22 (AP)—The 1945 shipping season opened in Cleveland harbor today as the Mexoil, a Great Lakes Transportation Corp. tanker, arrived from Toledo.

The Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Co. will open its season on the earliest date in several years when the City of Cleveland III leaves Detroit for Cleveland March 28, Company Agent Don Eisler reported. Last year D. & C. service began April 1.

SOVIET DRIVE DRAWING NEAR CZECH BORDER

BREAKTHROUGH TO BAG 45,000 ON ODER RIVER

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

London, March 22 (AP)—Russian troops, in a powerful new two-pronged offensive in upper German Silesia, have smashed to within three miles of Czechoslovakia in twin advances of 25 miles and killed or captured 45,000 enemy troops in a 450-square mile trap west of the Oder River, Moscow announced tonight.

Massed forces of Marshal Ivar S. Konev's First Ukrainian army were battling forward in an all-out assault to clear industrial upper Silesia and win the last Nazi war production centers in the rich region.

Key City Topped

Marshal Stalin announced Konev's forces had topped the key industrial city of Neustadt and more than 400 other towns and villages in the first stages of the Russian breakthrough.

Konev's offensive dove-tailed with the Red Army's assault which the Germans said the Russians had launched against the Baltic port of Stettin and with a fast-driving Red army offensive over Hungary. Berlin said the latter drive had reached within 95 miles of Vienna.

Moscow's war bulletin announced that meanwhile Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian army was hammering closer to the twin Baltic ports of Danzig and Gdynia. Advancing through the canal-webbed Vistula delta south of Danzig, the Russians seized nine places, including Rusocin, seven miles below the former free city.

Thrown Into Sea

In East Prussia, Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky's Third White Russian army struck from three sides against the last German outpost of Heiligenbeil, while Red army dive bombers lashed the battered remnants of enemy troops being thrown back into the sea.

Other Soviet troops in Czechoslovakia carved out new gains in the Carpathian Mountains north and northwest of Zvolen in Czechoslovakia, while Moscow announced Russian, Yugoslav and Bulgarian troops had smashed a German bridgehead thrown across the Drava River mid-way between Budapest and Belgrade.

Smashing through German defenses in 25-mile advances both west and south of the Oder River city of Oppeln, 46 miles southeast of Breslau, Marshal Konev's men encircled and routed an enemy group southwest of Oppeln. More than 30,000 were killed and 15,000 captured, Moscow said, while there were indications thousands of others still were trapped and were being wiped out.

Prison Collusion Quiz Kept Secret

Jackson, Mich., March 22 (AP)—Investigation into reports of collusion between southern Michigan prison officials and inmates and of use of liquor and narcotics in the prison continued under a cloak of secrecy at the state police post near the prison today.

Assistant Attorney General Harry W. Jackson conducted the inquiry this morning and Capt. Harold Mulbar of the state police detective bureau arrived shortly before noon.

Identity of witnesses or the subject of the questions put to them remained undisclosed, by agreement of the investigators.

Mulbar said the inquiry would continue for an indefinite period. Some of the investigation has centered about the escape last November of Joseph Medley, 43, now facing a murder charge in Washington.

Charlevoix Linked To Detroit By Air

Charlevoix, Mich., March 22 (AP)—Detroit to Charlevoix air transportation was inaugurated today by the Michigan Airlines Inc. of Flint, daily flights linking Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, Midland, Mt. Pleasant, Cadillac and Charlevoix. The plane leaves Detroit at 10:10 a. m. Eastern War Time and returns at 4:50 p. m.

WAR PRISONERS ESCAPE

Fort Custer, Mich., March 22 (AP)—Two German prisoners of war fled this afternoon from a detail assigned to the mess hall at Percy Jones hospital's convalescent facility here.

Neither of the prisoners Kuno Uken 24, and Frederick Jaeger, 19, speak English.

Germany Jittery As Peril Grows On West Front

London, Friday, March 23. (AP)—The Germans reported last night that Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery had launched an offensive from the west along a 65-mile front from Arnhem to Dueseldorf. There was no Allied confirmation.

A censorship screen covered the whole British front but correspondents with the troops were allowed to say that the build-up there was the largest since Normandy. A "D-day" tenseness gripped Britain.

One German broadcast heard by the Paris radio said that Montgomery's forces already were across the Rhine. This might have been a distortion of a similar DNB broadcast recorded earlier in London saying the Allies were about to attack.

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE

London, March 22 (AP)—The German radio declared tonight that Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery had begun the artillery barrages west of Wesel as a prelude to a "big Rhine crossing onslaught" into the Ruhr.

Another broadcast declared that the U. S. Ninth Army had sent raiding parties across the Rhine near the destroyed Dueseldorf bridge, but were repulsed by artillery fire.

German news agencies reflected alarm concerning the entire Western Front, and Berlin said the U. S. Third Army to the south had concentrated about 300 tanks—many of them amphibious—"and are making preparations for a Rhine crossing."

It was possible that in this fateful hour, the Germans had switched their commanders on the Western Front.

Dispatches from three U. S. correspondents on separate sectors of the Western Front said that Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, top-flight Prussian strategist, had been reported shorn of command in the west and that his successor was Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, Nazi favorite of the Italian fighting.

Coupled with disasters in the west, von Rundstedt's asserted drinking. One dispatch said von Rundstedt was understood to have drunk himself into a state of illness.

These reports came from the U. S. Ninth and First fronts and headquarters of Montgomery. If true, it would be the second time von Rundstedt fell from grace.

The first was when he reportedly quarreled with the late Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery over methods for the battle of the Normandy beachhead. He was recalled after Nazi-picked generals carried Germany to the brink of disaster in the battle of France.

Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, German military analyst, told the German people in a frank appraisal of the situation in which the Reich now finds itself squeezed remorselessly from east and west.

COLLISION NEAR MUNISING FATAL

Body Of Driver Burned Up After Crash Into Army Truck

Orville Mummy, 57-year-old Alger county resident, perished in an automobile accident south of Munising Thursday afternoon when he was trapped in his flaming roadster after a collision with an army truck on M-94 near Eight-Mile turn. Mummy's car was destroyed by fire, and his body was burned beyond recognition.

Sgt. Alfred P. Theys and Pvt. Joseph Rosenberg, who were in the army truck, told Sheriff Arlene Pelletier and state trooper Frank Harriss that Mummy's light car, a 1928 model roadster, approached around a curve as they were driving toward Munising. Apparently the wheels of the roadster failed to straighten out after making the curve and the car headed for a snowbank in the path of the truck, causing a head-on collision. The roadster burst into flames, and the army men backed their truck away and tried to rescue Mummy, but were unable to get the doors of the roadster open as flames from a burst gasoline tank enveloped the car.

Mummy was a woodworker and trapper and lived south of Munising about 1½ miles past the Island Lake road. A brother, Logan, lives in Munising, and there are two brothers and a sister in lower Michigan. The body was taken to the Beaulieu funeral home in Munising.

Direct Hit Scored On English Factory By Nazi Buzz-Bomb

London, March 22. (AP)—A German V-bomb scored a direct hit on a southern England factory recently, exploding inside and turning the building into a blazing inferno, it was announced tonight.

Another V-bomb exploded in the gardens behind a row of cottages in a southern England community, killing six persons, demolishing three houses and scattering wreckage over a wide area. Dazed survivors were pulled from those ruins, too.

Thirteen other persons were killed and six injured when two V-bombs struck other localities, including the grounds of a hospital. Part of the hospital was badly damaged that 120 patients had to be evacuated.

RUHR FACTORY DISTRICT NEXT INVASION GOAL

ALL RESISTANCE IS CRUSHED WEST OF RIVER BARRIER

BY AUSTIN REALMEAR

Paris, March 22 (AP)—Two U. S. armies crushed all major resistance west of the Rhine today in the last phase of a battle that cost the Germans 100,000 captives alone, and the enemy said the river barrier was about to be stormed both from the Palatinate and opposite the Ruhr, which was blasted.

One German report said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army had massed 300 regular and amphibious tanks and strong engineering and motorized units for a smash into the mountainous inner core of the Reich.

Defenders Trapped

Another declared that Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery had opened a thunderous artillery barrage to screen a Rhine crossing west of Wesel, adding to destruction wrought by the thousands of warplanes which throughout the day sowed ruin through the Ruhr valley.

Third army strategists now were free to plan the crossing of the Rhine, for possibly no more than 4,000 German effectives remained in action west of the stream after one of the worst disasters ever visited on German armies.

Written off were the great Rhine cities of Mainz and Ludwigshafen, where resistance folded during the day and the few defenders were chased into corners from which there was no retreat, with the Rhine bridges blown.

Bridgehead Expanded

Third army banners floated over 100 miles of the Rhine's west bank from Ludwigshafen to Coblenz, and racing armor was five miles from Speyer and 19 from Karlsruhe, the two main roads back for the battered German band—all that remains of two German armies once more than 100,000 strong.

The U. S. First army moved up into position to outflank the Ruhr from the south, widening its Remagen bridgehead to 29 miles and deepening it to nine against light to moderate opposition.

The First army now held nine miles of the south bank of the Sieg river northeast of Bonn within a dozen miles of the Ruhr's south rim.

The German defense lines crumpled early today in Mainz, which fanatic SS troops had tried to turn into an island of resistance in a sea of almost unsurpassed destruction.

By mid-afternoon Mainz was more than 75 per cent cleared and the Germans had been driven back into the old town, which covers only a small area in the heart of the city.

Battle Nears Conclusion

The 94th division to the south battled to rout the last snipers from the great chemical center of Ludwigshafen.

The battle west of the Rhine, which will carry out Gen. Eisenhower's plan, is continuing.

City Tax Payment 96.4% Is Highest In History

Tax collections in the city of Escanaba for 1944 totaled $250,366.74 or 96 per cent of the total levy, the highest payment before the March 21 delinquency date in the history of the city.

Increased wartime earnings apparently are the cause of the nearly perfect tax payment record, since the percentage of delinquency has been decreasing steadily for the past few years.

Previous tax collection high in Escanaba prior to the war was in the boom year of 1928 before the crash.

The beginning of the depression is reflected in declining tax collections. In 1933 with its relief work projects, the dole and scarce money the collections dropped to an all-time low of 75.6 per cent of the tax levy in Escanaba.

From 1933 the percentage of tax collections gradually increased until in 1937 it was 84.39 per cent of the levy, and in 1940 it had reached 89.7 per cent.

The total 1944 tax levy in the city of Escanaba was $262,927.45. This was divided between the city with a levy of $110,558.51 and the county and schools with a levy of $152,368.94.

Collected of these levies was 96.4 per cent of the city taxes and 95.3 per cent of the county and school taxes.

For comparison with last year, the collections for 1943 were 95.6 per cent of the city tax levy, and 94.2 per cent of the county and school taxes.

The approximately four per cent delinquent of the total combined levy of 1944 totals $12,540.71 of which $421.04 is delinquent personal taxes and the remainder is in real estate.

The delinquent tax rolls were returned to the office of the county treasurer yesterday, where the taxes are payable with the payment of a penalty and interest charge.

CITY RACE HAS 9 CANDIDATES

A. F. Alej Jr. Files As Nominee For Justice Of Peace

A total of nine candidates have filed their petitions with the city clerk with the legal number of signers and their names are now qualified to appear on the ballots for the spring election to be held April 2.

In the race for commissioner of public health, peace and safety or mayor, only two men, incumbent Everett Lezotte and Lovell Gibson, a newcomer to local politics, are in the running to represent the city on the commission and on the board of supervisors.

For city supervisors there will be six names on the ballot with two incumbents seeking re-election, Adeline Perron and William Duffett. Gunnard Bjork and Francis Lincoln are seeking election to the board of supervisors for the first time, and Martin A. Cleven Jr., is again in the supervisor race after having resigned from the board last fall due to his acceptance of federal employment. Arthur McAllister, who has previously served on the board, is in the race again.

A "four o'clock" deadline candidate on Monday for justice of the peace for an unexpired term was A. F. Alej Jr., who beat the clock in the city clerk's office to file his petition. His was the only petition filed for local judge.

The only space that will be empty on the spring election ballot is the space reserved for constable but as in former years this space will as no doubt be used.

William Dore, city clerk, has announced that the registration for the city shows a decrease of over 400 from the previous year. The decrease is somewhat accounted for in that there has been a shift of local residents to defense areas and the failure of some citizens to register.

Communication

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The Press was forced recently because of the shortage of space to call a halt to the flood of communications on the county road strike issue. Several lengthy communications were published, all expressing criticism of the policies of the Delta county road commission. In view of the fact that none of the published communications was in support of the commission, the Press believes in fairness, that it should publish the following contributions from the opposite side.)

DON'T OTHERS COUNT

Bark River, Mich.
Escanaba Daily Press
Escanaba, Mich.

What is the matter with our County Board?

It seems to the writer that an impartial group of men should have settled the differences between the Road Commission and the workers, satisfactory to both, without interference of either union or Mr. Alsten.

Is the county road packed with union officials and don't the others count?

The townships should see at the spring elections that some real dirt farmers, men who have swallowed enough sand, during their labors in the field, to have a little left in their gizzards, are elected to the office of supervisor.

The county board's time, as I can glean by the Press, seems to be divided by two issues: namely, How to compel the road commission to accept the A. F. of L., and How to compel the townships to pay some foreigner to reassess their property in order to boost their taxes. Both these issues could have been settled to the people's satisfaction with a little diplomacy and good judgment.

Personally, at this stage I feel the commission's proposal to the strikers is more than fair. May I ask who should the commission go to but the Attorney General for an opinion? The commission is a public service supported by the people. The railroads, for instance, may also be called a public service but it is organized for profit. Therein lies the difference. I mention this because I have heard some people say they could not see the difference. Many farmers have expressed the fear that if the union gets control, the money will be frittered away. As it was expressed to me by one farmer, the grievance committee will be in one continual session and a strike every time there is a snow flurry. I believe the unions have lost a great deal of their prestige because of their wartime strikes.

I happened to be standing beside a returned soldier at a counter one day. This man had been severely wounded in Normandy, had spent six months in hospitals and was going back to the hospital again. He had been reading about some Detroit strike and as he threw the paper aside, said to me: "I just wish I'd have that blankety blanket strike leader in the front lines for just one day. Just one day, and I'm sure he would forget about striking, at least until this war is over. That is the way the boys feel about strikes at this time. Compared to that outburst, your essays on "Democracy" seems pretty flat. Don't Believe for a minute that our boys are wilfully fighting and dying for any strikers at this time. And why should Delta county be the guinea pig to be experimented with? Can it be that after the fiasco of the ore docks, the union dues took a slump?

Yours truly,
Helmer Bruce.

OPPOSES STRIKERS

Cornell, Mich.
Escanaba Daily Press,
Escanaba, Mich.

Dear Editor:

Unions are a blot on American democracy. If there is anything typically American about them, I fail to see it.

Should the "Armed Forces" be permitted to strike, who would win this war? And don't you suppose that the men in service could find a grievance to strike about?

The same two questions could be asked regarding the farmer. I believe it is a good thing that farming is an industry in which strikes are highly impracticable.

Strikes have the principle that "might is right." "I've got you in my clutches and I'm bigger than a man," might be a good union slogan.

Yes—a three day blizzard would have won the battle for the county road crew.

Do such principles protect the little man? Why, faced by an organization of strikers, the employer becomes the little man and the situation is more hopelessly unbalanced than in pre-union days.

You hear this expression quite often, "their hands were tied, what could they do?" That is the way the unions do business. They tie your hands and then say, "now, what are you going to do about it?"

"A Farmer's Wife."

PRISONER OF WAR

Menominee—Technical Sergeant Albin Anderson of the Army, 39, whose home is at 929 Dunlap avenue, who was reported missing in action in Luxembourg December 18, is believed to be a prisoner of war in Germany.

In the past two days his sisters, Miss Hulda and Miss Margaret Anderson, who live in the family home, have received 37 letters and cards, most of them from persons residing on the East Coast, telling them of a short wave broadcast heard March 17 which stated that Anderson was a prisoner of war in Germany.

Lowlands Flooded As Ice Blocks Ford River Mouth

Lowlands around the mouth of Ford River were flooded several feet deep last night as ice carried down by the river jammed at the river's outlet into the bay, backing up the water level an estimated five feet.

J. T. Sharpsteen, county road commission superintendent, said that the ice barrier at the mouth of the river had been reported last night to be about 100 feet long and 10 feet high.

At 10 o'clock last night it was reported that the water beneath the concrete bridge crossing the river in the Ford River community had receded slightly but was still less than two feet beneath the bridge bottom.

Ford River residents reported the movement of ice down stream started in volume about 5 o'clock in the afternoon and increased rapidly as the breakup got under way. An hour later the ice had created a barrier at the mouth of the river and water levels in the lower river went up and up until it reached a peak about 6:30.

At its peak the water was reported to be only three inches below "its all-time peak". At that time the water was within about a foot of running over the concrete pavement south of the bridge in a low area.

Seven years ago at that point the surging spring flood water undermined the concrete and washed out about 100 feet of pavement.

CHEESE IN WAR

Cheese once turned the tide in a naval battle between South American ships. The Uruguayan commander, Captain Coe, finding his ammunition gone, started firing round, hard cheeses. Admiral Brown, Brazilian commander, thinking some new deadly weapon was being used, turned his ship and fled.

The water had risen so high it inundated the road which the conservation department constructed down river from the bridge as a fishing site. Ice was reported backed up from the river mouth to the bridge, a distance of half a mile.

One residence, that of Louis Goulet located southeast of the bridge, was surrounded by water.

Cheese once turned the tide in a naval battle between South American ships. The Uruguayan commander, Captain Coe, finding his ammunition gone, started firing round, hard cheeses. Admiral Brown, Brazilian commander, thinking some new deadly weapon was being used, turned his ship and fled.

Spinal Meningitis Case Is Reported, First Since 1942

The first case of spinal meningitis in Escanaba since 1942 has been reported to the Delta county health department this week, Dr. M. A. Elstein, county health director, reported yesterday.

The victim is Wallace Gardner, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gardner, of Wells, who became ill Tuesday. All of the members of the family have been isolated, Dr. Elstein reported, and the health department is making a study of possible sources of the infection, which is contagious.

"Cerebro spinal fever, known as spinal meningitis, is caused by a microorganism called meningococcus, which usually gains entrance into the system through the nose and throat," Dr. Elstein said. "It generally attacks children under the age of five and adolescents from 16 to 25, although persons of any age may become victims."

"Spinal meningitis starts with explosive vomiting. The patient usually complains of severe throbbing headache, chills, high fever, sharp pains and stiffness of the neck and back. Mild and innocent colds may often be the beginning of the disease."

Dr. Elstein declared that the discovery of a single case of spinal meningitis does not constitute serious danger of an epidemic, but declared that home medication should not be attempted in cases where symptoms indicate the possibility of the existence of this disease. He emphasized the importance of calling a family physician for early diagnosis and treatment.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Adding another War Bond to your collection, eh, Judge?"
"Yes, Josh, I've always looked upon buying Bonds as one of the best ways older folks like me here at home can help our fighting men overseas. For the past couple of years I've put every extra cent I had into them... not only during the War Bond drives... but on a regular basis. Of course, when there's a drive on I always try to buy an extra one or two."

"We've done the same in our family, too, Judge. We figure the more we buy... the better we equip our men... the quicker they'll finish their big job and come marching home again."
"That's the spirit, Josh. And let's be sure of one more thing. Let's be sure that they come back to the same kind of place they left. While they are away and can't express their opinions, let's not make any decisions on things that are going to concern them in years to come."

UPPER PENINSULA cities, including Escanaba, that have appropriated and expended local funds for the purchase and improvement of municipal airports, will be interested in the belief of the Michigan Board of Aeronautics that such communities will be credited, under federal laws, with all such contributions that have been made, to a postwar airport construction program.

The amount the city of Escanaba has expended on the local airport has been variously estimated at from a quarter to a half million dollars. If anything approaching that amount will be accepted by federal authorities, as constituting this city's contribution, matching federal funds, for the completion of a modern airport in this city, a troublesome financial problem will be eliminated.

Gov. Harry Kelly told members of the state board of aeronautics, at Lansing on Wednesday, that a legislative appropriation for postwar airport building in Michigan must stand on its own feet. Federal legislation has already been proposed, appropriating federal funds that will be used in matching state and local funds in a nationwide airport construction program, after the war. It is reported that the state of Michigan can obtain as much as $22,000,000 in federal grants, over a three year period, if state and local funds can be obtained to match federal grants. It is to obtain the first installment of such state funds that the state board of aeronautics has asked an appropriation of $5,000,000 from the current legislature, but board members have indicated they will be satisfied with a grant of half that amount at this time.

Escanaba and other cities, with considerable amounts already invested in municipal airports, will hope that their investments will be made effective through state participation in the federal plan.

Better Record This Year

A DRY spring season paves the way to many a forest fire. It isn't too early to remind ourselves that the time will soon be here when the Upper Peninsula woods, re-peopled with lovers of the out-of-doors after the snows of winter, may again suffer at the hands of careless fools who burn up a glorious birthright.

Fire is the great enemy of the woods, and the general public itself, through fires which it causes, is the chief offender in the destruction of commercial timber and scenic beauty, and the wiping out of wild life and game fish.

Fire has destroyed more Upper Peninsula timber than logging ever did, even though the latter may have been conducted in terribly wasteful ways for decades. Untold millions of dollars have been lost by fire in this most happy-go-lucky of all countries, a situation which could happen nowhere but on the North American continent.

It has turned out that wood is one of the most critical materials of this war, and we have foolishly burned up more wood than all the loggers ever preserved for commercial use. We have here in upper Michigan a potential and eternal resource in our millions of acres made for the production of timber. Keeping fire out of it is an eminently sensible thing to do, but the public must co-operate. Let's make this a free from-forest-fire year for Michigan's Upper Peninsula. It can be done if we have vision enough to pull together for something that benefits everybody.

Down the Rathole

THE Mead committee has decided to investigate a report that the war department is planning to abandon the Alaskan highway, which apparently no longer serves the military purposes for which it was built.

Just recently, the war department announced it was suspending operation of the Canol oil development project, which cost the taxpayers about $134,000,000. Representative Engel, Michigan's watchdog of the treasury, asserts the taxpayers would have been saved much money if this action had been taken many months ago. According to Engel, the Canadian government and the Standard Oil Company of Canada will fall heir to the Canol oil wells in the end.

It is likely that Canada will also benefit from the millions expended on the Alaskan highway, for certain stretches will be available for use. Indications are, however, that its use as a through route from the United States to Alaska will end soon after we quit spending money on its maintenance.

Both the Alaskan highway and Canol projects were inaugurated at a time when there was much alarm in military circles about the security of this nation. The Japs had dealt a severe blow to our Pacific fleet, but fortunately they were not aware at the time that they could have seized Alaska without much difficulty. Our military authorities believed then that the Japs would have control of the Pacific waters for many months, and that a land route for supplying Alaska would be necessary for a long time. As it turned out, the Alaskan and Canol projects proved to be only of minor military importance. Like the Escanaba ore dock project, they were costly investments in "insurance."

No Help for Fools

A DOLF HITLER is at the end of his rope, and no one knows it better than he. But he is ordering his depleted forces to fight to the last ditch. Meanwhile Stockholm dispatches say that he has a submarine ready somewhere along the north shore, tuned up to leave by night for some unknown destination.

That Hitler realizes his position must be apparent from his own writings and speeches. Again and again he has said that Germany could never fight a two-front war successfully, let alone a war in which America might join with Britain and Russia. In spite of the steady advance of the Allies until one-fifth of the Reich is now lost to the Nazis, the latter are fighting to the end, under the orders of their fool dictator. And that Hitler is a fool as well as a knave is proved by the present situation.

The statement of Hitler's reveals the fatal rift in the German character. Here is a nation which, while living with peaceable neighbors, has been secretly plotting war on them for decades. Putting on an apparently friendly front with surrounding nations, they have, like the Japs, been guilty of the most horrible crimes against others as soon as opportunity offered. They have played the fool along with their master, and they are playing it today by carrying on an absolutely hopeless war.

It can be said, of course, that Hitler and Himmler threaten death to all their subjects who hold back now, and that the latter fight on because they fear their rulers. That they have ever permitted themselves to get into such a position is only an additional proof of folly. Fools led by fools, the Nazi are beyond all hope of redemption. The leaders should be delivered over to Russia for treatment as fast as caught. As for the rank and file, if we coddle and sympathize with them now, we deserve the fate of fools ourselves.

AIDING GOOD RESORTS (Milwaukee Journal)

It is entirely true, as Gordon MacQuarrie commented on his column the other day, that the resort business in Wisconsin "just grewed" like Topsy.

So it would be unfair to generalize about the resort business or the resorts. They are of all kinds. Some are attractive and some are far from it. Some are well managed and some are not. Some capitalize on nature's beauties, and fresh air and the outdoor sports. Others prey on man's weaknesses and vices.

But Wisconsin's resort regions can only be as exhilarating and attractive and clean and beautiful as they should be when those who want to see those conditions prevail can act in unison to protect them from intrusion by base and vicious interests that care only for ill gotten, and often illegal, profit.

One of the first steps is certainly to establish good business practices and sound management policies which will assure the profits of those resorts that stay within the law and seek to provide wholesome surroundings for their guests. Virtue for virtue's sake may be good enough as a guide in personal conduct, but it is much easier to stay virtuous in business if virtue is also reasonably profitable.

In this situation it strikes us that the University of Wisconsin, working through and with the established resort associations, could be immensely helpful. One or two institutes of a few days' duration, in Madison or in some upstate community, would provide opportunities for discussions by experts in advertising, management, accounting, purchasing, personnel management, as well as many phases of conservation, wild life and the like.

Now is the time to give this Topsy who "just grewed" a chance to improve herself. She's getting to be a big girl—and nothing would be more encouraging than to discover that she really wants to be both smart and respectable.

WHAT'S THE GOOD WORD? (A Scrapbook Item)

Q. In our small church (about 250) the question arises as to the proper way of addressing our minister. We think "Mister" is not appropriate; "Doctor" won't do, for he holds no college degree; "Pastor" somehow doesn't sound right; "Preacher" sounds slangy; "Reverend" is not good usage, we've heard. So what are we to do?

A. Of course, any adult male American is a "Mister"—do we not properly say "Mr. President," "Mr. Secretary of State," "Mr. Chief Justice"?

However, in your particular case, "Mr. Jones" would be a pretty formal-sounding title. And "Pastor, Preacher, Reverend" are not good usage. There is no such thing as a "reverend." The word is simply an adjective of respect, and, like "Honorable," it is not a title, official or otherwise. One may use Reverend in speaking of a minister, as the Reverend Mr. John Jones. But it is bad form to use Reverend in speaking to a minister.

My suggestion is that you adopt a friendly and quite proper term that is customary in small churches and in lodges, and address your minister as "Brother Jones."

Cologne—Five days after Cologne fell, troops from the divisions that captured the city took part in a celebration which was impressive because of its very lack of the kind of military swank that characterizes the enemy.

It was impressive, too, because of the fact that several thousand soldiers could gather in the Cologne sports stadium while the enemy was still only a few miles away. Overhead, half a dozen P-47s flew in formation as an air cover, but this was more nearly a formal gesture than an actual necessity.

It was an extraordinary demonstration of what control of the air means. Without such control, as this war has proved repeatedly, nothing is possible. With control of the air, ground forces can begin destruction of the enemy.

So, in one sense, this informal celebration was a tribute to the U. S. Army Air Forces and the RAF. It was a tribute, too, to the boldness and daring of General H. H. Arnold, who planned the American air armada on a scale never dreamed of before.

However, it was the men sitting in the stands who had fought their way through blood and muck and stench to take the first major German city to fall to the Allied forces in the West. This was merely a moment of pause in a battle that would go on to the end.

In the stands were detachments from the 104th, the Eight and Ninety-Ninth infantry divisions and the Third armored division, all part of the Seventh Corps of the First Army. Units from the First Infantry division, which took Bonn, were also present.

—GL'S SELF-DISCIPLINED—
A regimental band played. The audience stood at salute while the American flag was raised on a flagpole at the end of the oval. Major General Joseph L. Collins, Seventh Corps Commander, spoke briefly and simply about the principles for which the Americans are fighting and about the men who had died in order that we could be where we were on the banks of the Rhine.

In the stands, the GLs sat hunched forward, with elbows on knees. They looked neat and well fed, but the grimace of battle long since removed. But there was no evidence of intensive spit and polish for the military show. This was just about as formal a moment as you would see in a war of a specialized techniques which is being fought on our side by ingenious, resourceful civilians in uniform.

I have been impressed repeatedly by the fact that the GL's discipline has been largely self-discipline, growing out of group drive on the one hand and, on the other, the intense competitiveness of the American spirit. In battle, it is one of the great sources of strength of the American army—this quality of self-will that imposes its own individual discipline. In the aftermath of battle, it can be a weakness, because then, with the urgency of need gone, discipline is relaxed.

Many unpleasant stories have come from France and now from occupied Germany—stories of grand pianos pushed out of second-story windows, of 18th century furniture used for firewood, of valuable glass and china deliberately destroyed. Such stories must have been behind one of the rare editorials in a recent issue of Stars and Stripes.

Thousands of American soldiers, said the editorial, are billeted in the homes of our friends and Allies. On how we treat those homes—on how we respond to their hospitality—much of the future depends. That, it seems to me, is a very timely warning.

—AVID SOUVENIR HUNTER—
Looting is a short and ugly word. No one would accuse the GI of being a looter. But he is an expert scavenger, with unlimited resourcefulness in appropriating what he finds to make himself more comfortable. He is also an avid souvenir hunter, and sometimes the line between souvenir-hunting and just plain looting is thin.

As Stars and Stripes pointed out, this is a threat to Allied harmony and cooperation in the future—and for several reasons. One is the propaganda handle it gives the Germans in their determined effort to sway European opinion against Americans. An incessant theme on the German radio is the destruction of French, Belgian and Dutch cities by U. S. bombers.

When German troops occupied France, their behavior was rigidly correct in outward forms. The impression that many French people got—that is, those who were not enslaved or tortured—was of scrupulous, even polite conduct. Though the Germans were none the less hated, the memory of that hate fades. And now, the Germans are trying hard to propagandize the contrast with the free-wheeling GI, who tends to make up his own rules.

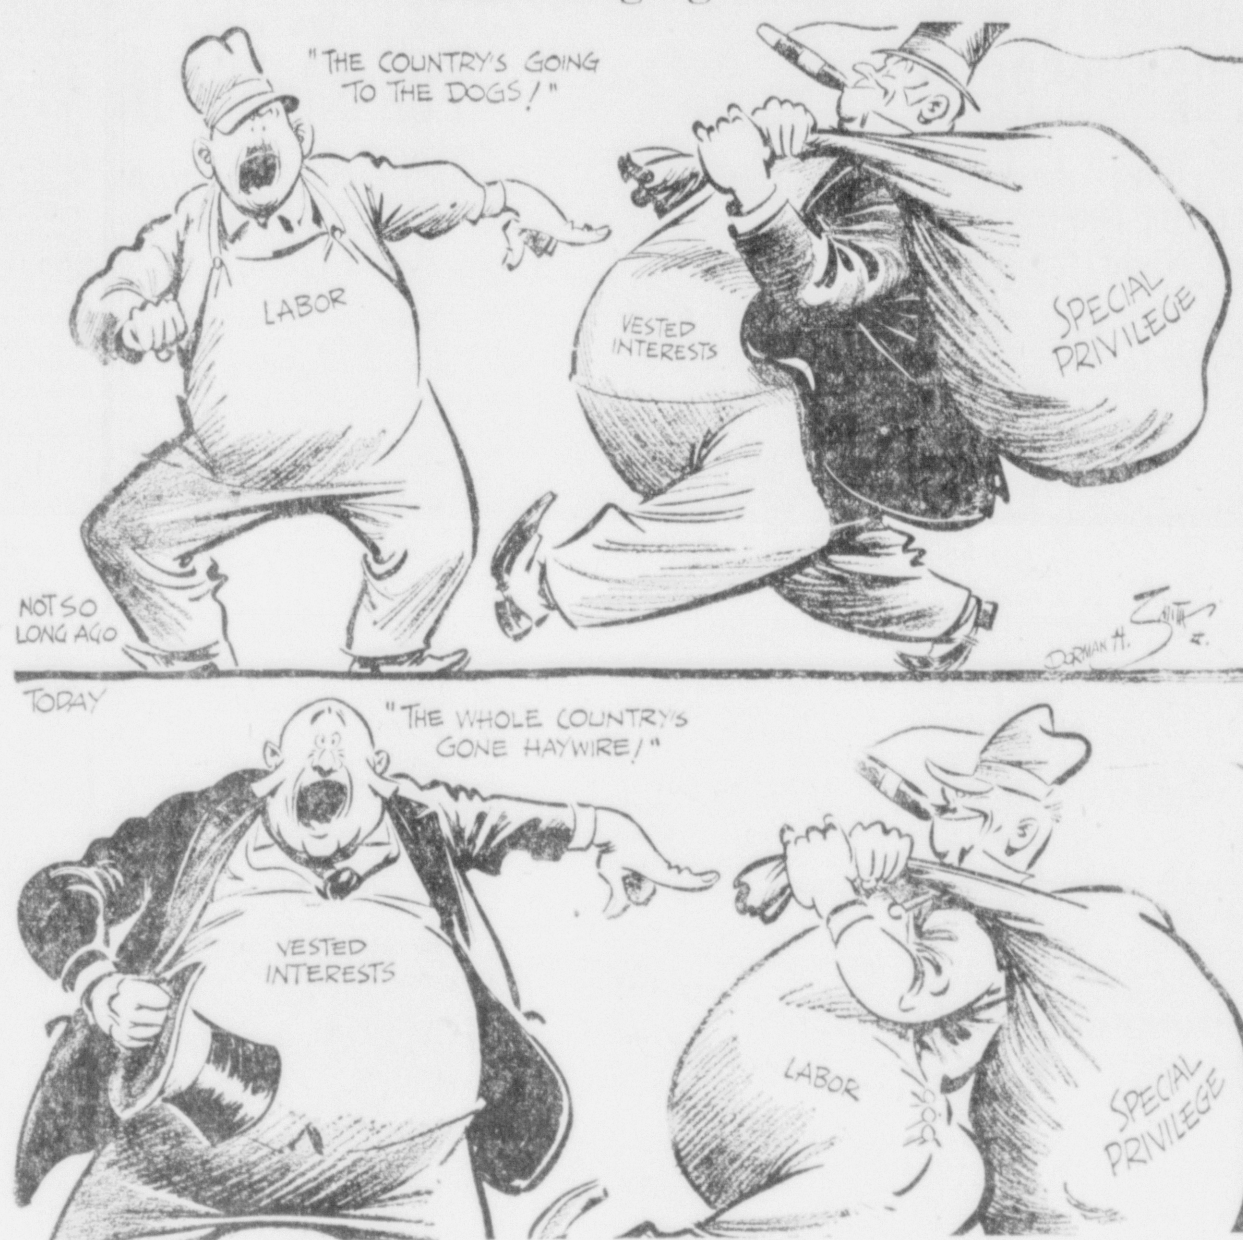

This will be an even more acute problem when some sort of armistice ends organized resistance in Germany. Then will come a severe test of our conduct in a Europe that has suffered so much.

HOW DID IT START?
Q. Why do they call the restaurant "bus boy" by a name that means a vehicle for public transportation?

A. Bus is short for omnibus, which literally has no connection with a vehicle. Omnibus is a Latin word meaning "for all." The bus boy, originally called "omnibus boy," is so called for the reason that he performs a service "for all" the waiters and diners, taking away soiled dishes, and generally tidying up the tables.

Our Changing World

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

AHEAD OF SPRING—Louis Kintziger of 1017 Lake Shore Drive, whose first novel "Bay Mild" will be published by Bruce of Milwaukee this spring, has a deep feeling of sentiment toward Little Bay de Noc on whose shore he lives. He enjoys its reedy marshes, the long stretches of sandy beach, the rocky cliffs of Stonington, and its changing seascapes reflected under the whip of stormy winds, or the smile of sunny sky.

Now at work on his second novel, Kintziger finds new inspiration in a walk from his house to the shore. There in a short distance he recaptures the feel of reality that, transformed by the writer's imagination, becomes material for a novel's setting.

On one of his walks several weeks ago Kintziger saw branches of pussywillows poking through the snow. Picking a branch he took it with him to the house and there placed it in water. Under the influence of warmer temperature they broke their beetle-like flower coverings and emerged in silky splendor while their outdoor cousins were still waiting the magic touch of spring.

FLOOD AT GARDEN—Walter Hornstein of Garden left a note the other day on flood conditions at Garden. His note was written Saturday, so conditions may have changed since then. You'll enjoy it, however.

"There is as pretty a cascade, or waterfall, as I ever saw in my life over at Garden, in front of St. John's the Baptist church, dropping over the lawn terrace and into the street. Thence it flows across and down into the creek. The flow came suddenly at 8 o'clock this morning. Thirty minutes later the flood, arising in the hills to the north and east of the town let go and accumulated water started coursing into the town and across the front of the church property.

"A county road crew (strike notwithstanding) is working on a big ditch that leads to the bay through Van's Harbor, believing that if this is opened it will relieve the flood in the town. Most cellars and basements in the village are flooded to the first floor and Garden Creek is a raging torrent. The condition is causing some inconvenience to ice fishermen of Garden, for several days have had to wear hip boots to tend their nets, because the bay if flooded over on top the ice by about a foot of water.

"The break-up is expected quickly now and the ice would go out with a north wind—which would be the earliest opening of Big Bay de Noc in many years. Usually the ice lets go about April 10 to 14."

ICEBERG LETTUCE—It is reported by a "usually reliable authority" as the foreign correspondents say, that Walter Nelson of the Delta Hardware has planted lettuce and radishes in his garden. Probably iceberg lettuce and winter radishes.

THE SOO LINE—Gladstone Carlson of Minneapolis, former resident of Escanaba until about 1905, recently sent his cousin, Escanaba City Clerk Carl E. Anderson, a reprint sheet of the Minneapolis Saturday Evening Spectator printed Jan. 21, 1895. The sheet tells the story of the inauguration of service by the Soo Line railroad from Sault Ste. Marie to west of Minneapolis.

The name of Gladstone appears several times in the story. For instance, the section of the Soo Line between Rhineland and Gladstone was completed Dec. 5, 1895, and from Gladstone to Sault Ste. Marie on Dec. 10, 1897.

The Tots to Teens Shoppe, of which Mrs. Phoebe Benson is proprietor, is opening this morning in its attractive location, 1320 Ludington street. The shop which has been completely redecorated and rearranged with modern fixtures, will carry a complete line of wearing apparel for children from infancy to sixteen years of age, both girls and boys.

Two Escanaba students at Northern State Teachers college are taking part in the concert which the music department is presenting Sunday afternoon. Melba Anderson plays in the viola division of the orchestra, and Alta Brotherton in the cello group.

Gladstone—Rose Marie Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Clark, Thursday was the honored guest at a lovely birthday party held at her home on Minneapolis avenue. At the party were Mary Lorraine Willis, Marian Moore, Dorothy Alwarden, Nathalie Hillewaert, Muriel Rachel, Constance Demunter, Shirley Ann LaFond, Mary Lou Thivierge, Helen Jean and Billy Cowell, Billy Corbett, Delbert Nelson, Shirley Mae, Harland and Rose Marie Clark.

Bill Egan's chariot team will race with John Kelly's team at the Coliseum Roller Rink tonight. The members of the two teams are: Kelly's: David Harwood, Hugh Boyle and George Frazier; Egan's: Mel Roberts, Clement Rivard and Stephen Lyons. All of these boys have raced against the world champion skaters, Roland Cioni and George Caspari.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lindstrom left last night for Chicago where they will meet their son, Bernard. Permission has been granted Ralph Johnson of Manistique to open a U. S. Postal sub-station at his drug store on the West side. Application was made by Mr. Johnson early in December and a postal inspector arrived in the city last week to look over the place of business. The location was approved and the new sub-station authorized to open for business.

"After deep consideration and careful investigation, Sander's Point on Little Bay de Nocquet, about seven miles north of the well known city of Escanaba, was chosen as the lake terminus of the line and rechristened Gladstone. The harbor at this point is one of the best on the chain of Great Lakes, having a natural depth of four to six fathoms and being two miles wide by four miles long. Extensive docks have already been constructed for the accommodation of coal, iron, lumber, flour and merchandise traffic which will soon render the port of Gladstone one of the most familiar names in the commercial reports of the country."

The story continues more modestly: "The postoffice was established at Gladstone in July, and the town organized in October, and was connected with Minneapolis and St. Paul Nov. 21st, travel having heretofore been carried on by lake vessels from Escanaba and other ports. The town already boasts of 1,000 inhabitants and nearly 200 substantial buildings were erected last year."

Another note about Michigan follows: "While it opens the great iron and lumber regions of Wisconsin and Northern Michigan to the markets of the world. Twelve thousand million feet of pine are tributary to it, together with immense quantities of hemlock, cedar and hardwood timber and all the products of the mines which, even yet, are in their infancy."

And later: "The pine lands it traverses unlike those of many other locations, are at once convertible into fertile and productive farms after the timber is cut off, the soil being a fine dark loam, showing every evidence of generous productivity and thus becoming doubly valuable."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. R. S. Allen now on active service)
Washington—British Ambassador Lord Halifax held an off-the-record session with 75 Republican congressmen the other night and was so well liked that for the first time in several years no one walked out of the meeting. Even when the late Wendell Willkie addressed this group two years ago, there were frequent excursions to the hotel bar. Halifax came to the Hotel Continental to tell the "78-79 Clubs" (1st and 2nd term GOP congressmen) about the British parliament. And the congressmen sat engrossed as this representative of the British Aristocracy and former Viceroy of India told them that England has more of a democracy than the United States. What made him popular with the Republican congressmen was his detailed explanation of the relations between the executive departments of the British government and the Parliament.

"In England," Lord Halifax said, "the executive departments cannot pass the Parliament—which means that they cannot by-pass the people."

Halifax did not need to add that in Washington the White House frequently by-passes Congress.

He then told them that "if Parliament decides on Friday that it no longer cares for the Prime Minister, he can be voted out on Monday."

Again, Halifax hardly had to remind the Republicans that our president is elected for a four-year term, that Congress cannot vote him out without impeaching him, and that the present incumbent, though sometimes vigorously rebuffed in Congress, has remained in office 12 years.

Actually, of course, British cabinet ministers are not required by law to appear for questioning by the Parliament, nor is the Prime Minister required by law to resign in the face of a no-confidence vote, but the custom is so strong that it is unlikely it would ever be ignored.

Lord Halifax discovered early in the evening that he had hit upon a subject which would be good listening and the ambassador stayed on the topic, to the approval of his listeners.

To a question about the King of England and his status in the ideal democracy he was describing, Lord Halifax replied:

"You Americans can buy some bunting for a few cents. You make a flag of it, and then you die for that flag. We take a man and call him a King—and we die for him. But he has nothing to do with legislation of the actual administration of our government. He makes speeches, and we all pledge ourselves to him. But our government is not in his hands."

Halifax had given his listeners such an intriguing peek at a situation where Congress could vote a cabinet out of existence that all the questioning by his listeners dealt with this subject and he didn't have to answer a single embarrassing question about British foreign policy.

—G. I. JOE AT PEACE TIME—

More and more state legislatures and members of Congress are urging that a G. I. Joe sit at the peace table; also that he begin by sitting in at the important San Francisco United Nations Conference. Some further propose that Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state and the man who originally planned for the peace machinery, attend the San Francisco Conference, perhaps as adviser to the soldier delegate or as an unbiased observer with no axe to grind either for or against any one political party.

The Maryland and Rhode Island legislatures are the latest to push the idea of a G. I. Joe at the peace table, resolutions being introduced by Charles M. See of Cumberland, Md., and Joseph Mills of Warwick, R. I. The Texas and South Carolina legislatures have already passed resolutions, while Senator Johnston of South Carolina and Representative Jackson of Washington have introduced resolutions in the U. S. Congress urging that the G. I. Joe attend the San Francisco Conference as a starter to the final peace session. They propose that he be no higher than the rank of sergeant.

As Wallace looked round the room in Jesse Jones' old loan office, he said: "I just want to see where the bodies are buried." . . . Credit Republican Senator Austin of Vermont with doing one of the best jobs at the recent Mexico City conference. Though not a trained diplomat, Austin was a tower of sound advice to the U. S. delegation. . . . Friends of Jesse Jones say he is hugging Washington until Controller General Lindsay Warren finishes his audit of loan agency books. Jesse wants to be on hand when the fire-hose in case trouble starts. He has advised the directors of his subsidiary loan agencies not to resign. . . . So far all are taking Jesse's advice, except Charley Henderson, the best director of all, who has now tendered his resignation. Vinson probably won't accept it. . . . Washington State Democrats are boiling over the White House invitation extended to Washington's Republican Ex-Governor Langley. Of all the Republican governors who campaigned against Roosevelt last year, Langley was the most vitriolic. So last week he was invited to lunch.

ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS DROPS

Creates Serious Problem Of Finances, Says Elliott

Completing a tour of the upper peninsula for the purpose of studying local problems affecting schools, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, declared here yesterday that the sharp reduction in school enrollments has resulted in a critical financial problem for school districts throughout the upper peninsula.

"The loss in enrollment is more sharply pronounced in the upper peninsula than it is elsewhere in the state, except in Hamtramck, where school capacity of 20,000 students now has an actual enrollment of only 5,000," Dr. Elliott said.

The educator reported that the drop in enrollment has been caused in the upper peninsula by two principal factors. The first, he said, is the economic factor, with many families moving from the peninsula to industrial centers for higher paying jobs.

Regarding the teacher problem in Michigan, Dr. Elliott reported that the state department of public instruction has certified 5,000 war emergency teacher certificates, requiring lower teaching standards, in order to meet the teacher shortage. He added that an additional 1,000 war emergency certifications are anticipated for next year.

Dr. Elliott lauded the adult education program in Escanaba and expressed regrets that he was unable to attend the graduation program for the adult school here Wednesday night. He declared that the adult education program throughout Michigan has been very successful, with 400,000 persons enrolled in the classes during the month of March.

The state superintendent of public instruction advocated the amendment at the April election to allow raising the 15 mill limitation by majority vote in order to meet the financial crisis faced by the schools. Dr. Elliott declared that $55,000,000 has been tentatively allocated as state aid

In his visits to school districts throughout the peninsula, Dr. Elliott has been explaining the proposed changes in the teachers retirement act which, he said, are designed to more adequately meet the retirement problem. He reported that the proposed changes would establish the teachers retirement fund along lines similar to the retirement provisions of state employees. Increased payments would be provided along with an increase from three to five per cent as the teachers' contribution.

Lt. Mike Miketinac Gets Bronze Star

Lt. Michael N. Miketinac, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Miketinac of Hermansville, husband of the former Medeline Furgeson, Ontonagon, has been awarded the Bronze Star for gallantry in action.

Lt. Miketinac was also given the following citation:

"Michael N. Miketinac, Second Lieutenant, for heroic achievement in France on 26 of November, 1944, in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States. On 26 November in an attack on the enemy, a company of a battalion was temporarily delayed due to intense artillery, mortar and machinegun fire. Lt. Miketinac, leader of a mortar section with utter disregard for his own safety, moved out to an exposed position under direct observation of the enemy to direct effective fire from his mortar section upon observation posts and machine guns. His actions so inspired the platoon to reduce the enemy fire and support the attacking company that it was able to make a successful assault and accomplish its objective. The bravery, leadership, and loyal devotion to duty displayed by Lt. Miketinac are commensurate with the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States."

Lieut. Miketinac has also received the Purple Heart and the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Purple Heart for being wounded twice in action and is now convalescing in England.

Lieut. Miketinac, a graduate of Hermansville high school, was a senior at Michigan State college at the time of entering service, received his officer's commission at Fort Benning, Georgia, and has been overseas since July, 1944. He served in the 80th Division of General Patton's Third Army up to the time he was seriously wounded on January 18, 1945, in Luxembourg. Lieut. Maketinac, who was wounded in the right forearm, writes to his parents that following his next operation he will be sent back to the States.

U. C. T. Will Stage Victory Program Saturday Evening

R. W. Hawbaker senior counselor of Escanaba Council No. 616, United Commercial Travelers, announced today that a special Victory celebration will be held on the evening of Saturday, March 24 at 6:30 o'clock. The ceremony will be held at the North Star hall.

According to Mr. Hawbaker, a class of 50 new members will be inducted into the Order. This initiation will be one of a series in connection with the order's Anniversary celebration.

At this ceremony, members of the "Minute More" club who have distinguished themselves by outstanding fraternal service will be honored.

Escanaba Council is cooperating with 565 others located in the principal cities of the United States and Canada in celebrating the Order's fifty-six year of service to its members and to the Nation. The local council has organized a "Minute More" club which hopes to greatly strengthen the local membership. A list of local business and professional men are being invited to become members and indications now point to the largest group ever received by the organization at any meeting.

During the year which will close March 31, there were more than 16,000 members added to the organization's roster. The local council during that same period made a net gain of 38 per cent in membership.

Ore carriers now being built will use propellers 30 per cent larger than any that have heretofore been cast. Weighing 70,000 pounds, the propellers will be 22 feet in diameter.

Fast Melting Snow Causes Flood Damage

Garden—Not since 1923 has this village experienced a flood like the one which developed Saturday morning. During the night, water accumulated in the large field at the top of the Church Hill. At 7 a. m. William Hynes rang the church bell and made a fire in the basement of the church as usual. When worshippers went to Mass a little while later the basement was full of water, entering on the north side and pouring out at the south side, and continuing in a south west direction over the sidewalk. So great was the force that the turbulent waters were not changed in course as they rushed down the embankment before hitting the highway. Surface gravel was carried on over the road and opposite sidewalk into the yards on the west side of the hill and huge stones of the roadbed were washed out.

By evening only those wearing hip boots ventured to walk on the hill, and those wishing to attend church did so in cars. On the road north of town, opposite the Horning farm, the moving water reached to the fenders of motor vehicles.

Then when Sunday dawned the water had seemingly miraculously disappeared except for large pools in the fields, where the youngsters continued to sail on their raft. The falls, which have not appeared in the shortcut for several years were again active Saturday. A road crew rectified the damage on the hill Sunday and Monday.

Steps had been taken after the big flood of 1923 to avert another such catastrophe but with the sudden rise in temperature and absence of a thaw in January the whole winter's accumulation of snow melted in three days and defied all man's efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Boudreau entertained several friends at a St. Patrick's party Saturday evening. In games played, Mrs. Boudreau and Frank G. Tebo received the prizes. Following, a delicious lunch was enjoyed at the table prettily decorated in keeping with the day.

Flag Dedicated
A new U. S. Flag was dedicated at the Congregational church Sunday afternoon. The hardwood standard, finished in light oak, was made and presented by Wallace Birk of Ensign, son of Mrs. Martin Birk, who resides here with her daughter, Mrs. Wesley Horning.

Pfc. Joe Bergeon Fighting On Iwo

Pfc. Joseph A. Bergeon of the U. S. Marine Corps writes his mother, Mrs. Arthur Bergeon, 104 North Tenth street, from Iwo Jima, as follows:

"I have been kept more than busy the last couple of days out here. As you probably know I am on Iwo Jima and it was a pretty rough fight at first—in fact it still is a little tough. I know without asking that you are worried but I am in the best of health and I get all I want to eat. The only thing is I could use a little soap and water and a shave. It has been eighteen days now and I look like a ground hog from digging fox holes. The only cuts I got were from opening C rations—boy, what a meal. Hash and more hash. Once in a while we have a treat—stew. "We sure are close to Tokyo. You can hear those little yellow rats talk and all they can say is Mercy Marine but as you know we give them all the same chance."

Elroy Ecklund, city, is leaving today for Toledo where he will enter the employ of a steamship company and work on a lake freighter this summer.

Vernon Bunno has arrived from overseas and is now at Camp Kilmer, N. J., he wired his parents.

BRAY PRESIDENT OF RIFLE CLUB

Will Continue Helping Train CG Flotilla Members

Hubert J. Bray was elected president of the Gladstone Rifle and Pistol club at the annual meeting held Wednesday night at the city hall.

Leslie Hornmanson was chosen as vice-president, Torval Kallerson as secretary, D. A. Mathison as treasurer, Carl Johnson as executive officer, and Sgt. Willard Wixom as range officer.

They voted to continue to cooperate in training members of the Coast Guard Reserve and Flotilla in the use and handling of small arms.

This club has been doing for the past nine months and many persons who were entirely unfamiliar with firearms when they started are now adept not only in handling the arms but in marksmanship. Weekly shoots have been held for many months. All facilities, equipment and guns of the club have been placed at the disposal of the Coast Guard Flotilla.

Another activity scheduled for summer is reconditioning of the outdoor range on the north bluff.

Former members of the rifle club will be contacted with a view

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with stinging and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Flier Goes Under Water With Plane, But Escapes

BY ERNIE PYLE

In the Western Pacific (Delayed)—We were launching our mid-morning patrol flight. The sun was out bright, and the day was warm and magnificent. Everything was serene.

I had already become acquainted with some of the pilots, and before our flight I would go to the "ready room" and find out from the blackboard the number of planes my friends were flying, so I could identify them as they went past.

Pyle

Lieut. Jimmy Van Fleet is one of the pilots I know best. We got acquainted because we have a mutual friend—War Correspondent Chris Cunningham, with whom I shared a tent and sometimes worse through Tunisia and Sicily and Italy. Jimmy and Chris are from the same hometown—Findlay, Ohio.

Plane In Trouble

We know the very moment he started that Jimmy was in trouble. His plane veered sharply to the right, and a big puff of white smoke spurted from his right brake band. Then slowly the plane turned and angled to the left as it gained speed.

The air officer up in the "island" sensed catastrophe, and put his hand on that warning squaker. All the sailors standing on the catwalk, with their heads sticking up over the edge of the flight deck quickly ducked down. Yet such is the rigidity of excitement, I never even heard the squaker.

It was obvious Jimmy couldn't stop his plane from going to the left. He had his right wheel locked, and the tire was leaving burned rubber on the deck, yet it wouldn't turn the plane, and it was too late to stop now.

When he got back to us, Jimmy told me what happened from there on. He said that when the plane went in the water, it went so deep that it got dark in the cockpit. Jimmy wasn't hurt by the crash, outside of a small cut on his forehead.

He pulled his various buckles, opening his hatch cover and releasing himself from his seat harness. But as he did so he fell forward (the plane was riding nose down in the water, of course) and in a moment was standing on his head, under water, and in a hell of a fix.

But somehow he got himself upright, and then he couldn't get out because his radio cord, attached to his helmet, was still plugged into its socket back of his seat.

So he took his big sheath knife out of its holder, cut the radio cord, and then carefully put the knife back. He says he doesn't know why he put it back. All this happened under water, and in mere seconds.

Some part of Jimmy's clothing caught as he was getting out, and he gave a big yank to free himself. Thus he tore his Mae West wide open, both compartments of it, and he had no buoyancy at all. But he is an excellent swimmer, so he stayed up.

Saved by Destroyer
When Jimmy went over the side, the destroyer was running about a mile to our left. Here Jimmy was lucky again. For that wasn't the destroyer's normal position: It just happened to be cutting across the convoy to deliver some mail on the other side.

Jimmy had hardly hit the water when we saw the destroyer heel over in a swath-cutting turn. They had been watching the take-offs through their glasses, and had seen him go over. Our own ship, of course, had to keep right on going straight ahead. And our next plane took off without the slightest wait, as though nothing had happened.

The destroyer had Jimmy aboard in just seven minutes. They didn't put over a boat for him, but instead sent a swimmer out after him, with a line tied around his waist.

He got to Jimmy just in time. Jimmy passed out in his arms. With no lifebelt, he had taken too much salt-water aboard.

In the meantime the destroyer had let down a metal stretcher, and another swimmer was there to help get Jimmy into it. It took a while for them to get him on, for he was dead weight, and the stretcher kept going up and down with the waves.

But finally they managed it. Jimmy was safe and alive, although a very water-laden and passed out young man from Ohio.

hower's orders to destroy every German short of the big river barrier, was being carried to a rushed conclusion by the U. S. Third and Seventh armies.

The Tenth armored division of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army was fanning out, one column spearheading six miles southeast to near Commerchheim, seven miles west of Speyer and only 19 miles northwest of Karlsruhe, industrial city of 200,000 on the Rhine's east bank.

The pincers were being clamped on Speyer. The Tenth, after capturing the steel city of Neustadt, pushed on into Bohl, six miles northwest of Speyer, over whose bridge the German radio was calling to the beaten troops to escape before it was too late.

Patton's mystery tank division which first penetrated Ludwigschafen left the mop-up of the city to the 94th infantry division and speared on south to within five miles of Speyer on the north.

Simultaneously, the Tenth sent one column slashing eight miles southeast through the Phalzburg forest, where it severed the enemy's last good east-west road and railway by capturing Annweiler, six miles west of pivotal Landau.

Thousands Surrender
Westward other armored columns drove south to the vicinity of Munchweiler, only five miles north of Seventh army forces battling against the Germans doggedly holding a 35-mile stretch of the Siegfried line near Pirmasens eastward to the Rhine.

After capturing Annweiler, the Tenth drove two miles east to near Albersweiler, three miles west of Landau. There the Third army was seven miles north of the Seventh army fighting in the Siegfried line at Dorrenbach, 17 miles west of Karlsruhe.

West of Pirmasens Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh and Patton's Third armies were meshing together, crisscrossing each other's path in total disregard for any boundaries in a mop-up that was netting more prisoners in large numbers.

Patton's forces took 11,300 prisoners Wednesday and a late front dispatch said the Germans still were surrendering "in droves."

Indicative of the close teamwork of Patch and Patton, the Third army's 65th division and Seventh army's 63rd division cleared Neunkirch, northeast of Saarbrücken.

Patton's Third armored division, 28 miles beyond last reported positions, was in the vicinity of Gruenstadt, 10 miles west of Worms, after passing through Kaiserslautern in the Third army lines.

Right behind came the Seventh's 45th division, which also sped through Kaiserslautern and on four miles north to Ottersburg. This division alone took 1,400 prisoners Wednesday.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army was steadily moving up to positions to join in the blow to knock out the Ruhr. Gen. Eisenhower has warned German civilians the coming blow to their factory cities into death traps.

PITCHING PICKS UP FOR TIGERS

Mound Staff Big Item

In Detroit Plans To Snatch Pennant

BY FRANK KENESSON

Evansville, Ind., March 22 (P)—Detroit pitching, sounnder today than last season when it was the best in the American League, is the Tigers' big item in plans to corral the pennant that eluded them on the last day of the 1944 baseball campaign.

Hal Newhouser and Paul (Dizzy) Trout, the Tigers' left-right mound "kick" that tolled a total of 664 innings and contributed 56 victories last year, are the backbone of a pitching staff strengthened by service discharge of big Al Benton, ace relief chucker of the 1940 season, and a pair of stand-out recruits from the minors.

Les Mueller, army discharge who coached 18 games for Beaumont in his last full year before his induction, and Walter Wilson, 29-year-old winner of 18 games last season with Buffalo, are the top newcomers. Both are husky righthanders.

Leftlander Frank (Stubby) Overmire (11-11) and Ruff Gentry (12-14) again are figured to take their regular starting turns.

Manager Steve O'Neill's choice of other pitchers will be made from among Forrest Orrell and Bob Gillespie, each an eight-game winner with Buffalo; leftlander Bill Pierce and fast-baller Art Houtteman, up from the Detroit sandlots, and Zeb Eaton, who shuttled between the Tigers and Buffalo in 1944.

O'Neill couldn't be happier with his catching staff, which again counts the veterans Paul Richards and Bob Swift as turn-about receivers.

The big gap, of course, is in the outfield, where swifg Dick Wakefield deployed for the last half of 1944 before his induction into the navy. Departure of Wakefield, who led the league in regulars with a rousing .355 batting average, leaves the club without a player who batted as well as 300 against major league pitching last season.

Roger Cramer, the everlastig, is back at 39 for another year in center field and Pepperpot Jim Outlaw is counted on for one of the other outfield spots.

Chuck Hostetler, also 39, and Harvey (Hub) Walker, 38, procured as a free agent after his navy discharge, must fight off Bobby Maier, converted Buffalo third baseman, for the other job.

The infield appears capable, even without Mike Higgins, clutch-hitting third baseman who was inducted in Detroit this week.

Rudy York will be back on first with Eddie Maynor, Joe Hoover and ex-White Soxer Jimmy (Skeeter) Webb filling out a veteran combination.

But that pitching—there's the Tiger poison for 1945.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Several years ago it was suggested in this sports column that the upper peninsula athletic council pay silent tribute to its basketball tournaments to Capt. Roger Keast, former Marquette coach who was killed in action at Buna, New Guinea, as a symbol of reverence and appreciation for the sacrifices of all upper peninsula athletes in battle and particularly to those who would be called upon to make the supreme sacrifice for their country. Capt. Keast was the first of the upper peninsula athletic veterans to be killed in action. The suggestion didn't take root with the athletic council and there has been no recognition by the council in subsequent years.

C. C. Strickland, former Gladstone educator, now superintendent of schools at Ravenna, Michigan, has forwarded the official program of the lower peninsula basketball tournament, sponsored by the Michigan high school athletic association, at which formal tribute is paid to former Michigan high school athletes in service with particular recognition to those who made the supreme sacrifice, including several from the upper peninsula. Not all of the upper peninsula athletes who participated in MHSAA basketball tournaments in past years and who have since died in action are included, but the following are listed: William L. Debelak, Eber high school; Edward Borski, Daggett; Eval St. Juliana, Hermansville; Sidney Mattson and Ellsworth Hajkovic; Arthur Isaacson, Everett Isaacson and Elden Giers, Republic; Joseph Cameron Trout Creek; and Everett Stewart Hulbert.

An excerpt from the lower peninsula tournament program's "A Tribute and a Prayer" follows: "These boys of former tournaments are now men beyond their years who fight today to preserve our nation, that the boys who play and watch and listen tonight may lift it to greater heights tomorrow. For them and for those who are near and dear to us we pause in humble tribute and in thankfulness that in former tournaments these boys were unconsciously preparing themselves to be members of the greatest team in the world—the American Nation. Their sacrifice permits those who follow to grow in strength and to remain free of despotism and oppression. For their sacrifice, we are deeply grateful—and proud of the courage which led to their offering in the altar of Freedom. We reverently offer our homage—and pray that cares will be borne easily by those who mourn and that the earth will lie lightly on those who gave their lives in a great cause. We promise to remember, and to eternally strive for the kind of peace and the kind of world which they envisioned. To all our boys and girls in the service of their country, we bow our heads in simple tribute. We pledge anew our determination to maintain and expand every effort to lighten their task and hasten its completion."

BASEBALL

Evansville, Ind., March 22. (P)—Jimmy (Skeeter) Webb, who for five years did the shortstop for the Chicago White Sox, moved right into the Detroit Tiger infield today, pushing Joe Hoover over to third, as the Tigers took their first fielding workout of the training season.

Eddie Mayo was on second for the "varsity" infield dand catcher Paul Richards filled in for Rudy York at first. York, two days overdue, was rumored a holdout.

Carl McNabb, 27-year-old Jasper, Tenn., boy who cavorted in the Buffalo infield last season, was at second base with a second infield quartet which had Ed (Red) Barom at third and rookie Jack Watts at short.

Arrival of Jim Outlaw hiked the Tiger camp roster to 25 men as Steve O'Neill counted off Mike (Pinky) Higgins, clutch-hitting third sacker, who passed his draft physical today in Detroit. Other arrivals today were Bob Maier, Buffalo third baseman whom the Tigers intend to use in the outfield and pitcher Walter Wilson, 18-game Buffalo winner from the stands. Only nine men of Detroit's 34-player roster remained unaccounted for.

Outfielder Chuck Hostetler and utility man Don Ross were enroute to Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., March 22 (P)—Joe Hoover, Detroit Tigers shortstop, still was classified 4-F in the draft when he reached the Detroit training camp, but his draft board has its thumb on him. Hoover has been given three physical re-examinations—two since Christmas. He is deferred because because of a stomach ailment.

Evansville, Ind., March 22 (P)—Ed Mierkiewicz, husky outfield prospect of the Detroit Tigers from Wyandotte, Mich., is a first-class all-round athlete.

The big 205-pounder, six feet three in height, was an All-Michigan high school end at Wyandotte in 1942 and was enroute to the University of Michigan when he called into the army. Discharged because of rheumatic fever, he played baseball last season with Hagerstown, Md., in the Interstate League and batted .337.

During the past winter he did electrical work in a Detroit steel plant and played amateur basketball on the side. He is 20 years of age.

Evansville, Ind., March 22 (P)—Detroit Catcher Paul Richards, 36-year-old Waxahachie, Texas, sports writer in the off season, had about outgrown a nickname that followed him for years through organized baseball.

Shortstop Joe Hoover ran across it last fall and appeared at training camp primed to give his teammate a ribbing.

Hoover has a cousin whose husband carries Paul's mail. So he asked the postman relative if he knew "Paul Richards."

"Oh," was the reply, "you must mean 'Sleepy' Richards."

Washington, Mar. 22 (P)—Manager Ossie Bluege will trot out three veteran Washington pitchers Sunday in a Red Cross benefit game with the Boston Braves at College Park, Md. He plans to use Dutch Leonard, John Niggeling and Roger Wolf three innings each.

The Senators open their exhibition schedule Saturday against the Coast Guard team at Curtis Bay, Md. Lulu Aloa, a Cuban righthander who looks good, may do the pitching.

Washington, Mar. 22 (P)—Outfielder Tommy Holmes, who batted .309 last season, and Frank Drews, infielder, joined the Boston Braves today, making 21 men in camp at Georgetown University.

Cold, wet weather drove the Braves indoors for a light workout. Manager Bob Coleman has been sending them through two workouts daily.

Durocher to Play 15 Games and Get $1,000 for Bonus

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, March 22 (P)—Branch Rickey has offered Manager Leo Durocher $1,000 if he will play in the first 15 Brooklyn Dodgers games this year, possibly figuring he is safe as there is doubt that Leo can hold out for 15 games. Or that the club can hold out, for that matter. In fact, that's the only kind of holdout that worries him this year.

why I haven't written for so long. I wrote a V-mail aboard ship and told you I was going to combat but it must have been lost on the way or something.

"This little island of Iwo Jima was a hard nut to crack but we got her now. We had a little counter attack the other night but the Japs didn't have a chance. We mowed 'em down as fast as they came and then the rest turned around and went back to their holes in the ground. "This island is just a rock full of caves and tunnels, but it sure will come in handy to us."

"I went to Communion on the ship a few hours before we hit the beach and the Lord really took good care of me during the operation. We had Mass today for the first time on the island and I went to Mass and Holy Communion."
